

(186 Enfield Main Road currently privately owned home). Enfield Centre Hotel, Moses L. Harvey, drawn by Ezra D. Chase March 20 1879. A hotel/tavern operated in the 1850's by Elizabeth and Aaron VanMarter The hotel not only served as an overnight rest stop for travelers but also was rented by the town as a place to conduct town business and hold elections. About 1875 the place was acquired by Moses L. Harvey and was called Harvey Hotel. Sometime between 1893 and 1894 the hotel again changed hands, and the new owner, Frank Teeter, called it Teeter Hall. The last recorded use for the hotel was in 1922. It was noted for its many dances held on the "floating" dance floor. . (Picture a part of the Enfield Town Historians Collection.)
