

ONE PHONE CALL CHANGED EVERYTHING

An average of 5,500 people are killed every year in North America as a result of cell phone distracted driving.

That's 15 people every day.

Since a terrible, life-changing crash in 2008, Jacy Good and Steve Johnson, have become nationally recognized public speakers and advocates for cell-free roads. They work tirelessly to educate the country about the dangers of cell phone use behind the wheel.

Join us at Lifelong to hear Jacy's story and to learn more about this issue that threatens everyone on the roads today.
